--ABSTRACT--

In the English translation document, please insert the following paragraph at page 17 line 11 after the newly added ABSTRACT heading, as follows:

The invention relates to an inductive rotating transmitter, comprising a fixed piece and a rotating piece, whereby the fixed piece and the rotating piece have a common virtual rotational axis and the rotating piece rotates about the fixed piece. The data transmission is carried out over at least one data transmission path by means of at least one inductive element and the data transmission path is arranged outside the rotational axis of the rotating transmitter.
